Author's Notes:
Hadn't time enough to edit the next chapter of "On the run", but I always can do a drabble.

„Another one?" Jason asked.

James shyly nodded, avoiding Jason's look. His hair was wet. He already had washed it.

Jason put down another rubber duck onto the surface of James' bathing water. Now, over two hundred rubber ducks of multiple colors covered the water.

"James, you have a problem," Jason mentioned.

"I can't bathe without my rubber duck," James whimpered.

"One duck, okay." Jason sighed. "But why do you need so many of them?"

"To get covered my hard-on. One duck won't do the job."

Jason groaned. James grinned.

"We'll throw some out if you'll get your sexy ass in."
